

Tenant Authorization to Release Energy Information

In an effort to promote energy efficiency and identify energy efficiency improvement opportunities for its customers, Rhode Island Energy is working with the United States Environmental Protection Agency (“EPA”) to use the EPA’s ENERGY STAR Portfolio Manager tool. The Portfolio Manager is used to benchmark building energy efficiency to help customers assess the energy performance of their building(s) and encourage action to make the building(s) more efficient, and to sustain that efficiency over time. To accomplish this, Rhode Island Energy needs to disclose the aggregated energy consumption data for your premises. This form is your permission that Rhode Island Energy may disclose ENERGY STAR Portfolio Manager benchmarking data and ratings.

For more information regarding the Portfolio Manager and the national energy performance benchmarking program, please go to www.energystar.gov/index.cfm?c=evaluate_performance.bus_portfoliomanager.
